40th IAFEI WORLD CONGRESS

Rome, October 13-15/2010

Welcome address

Facing the Reality

Financial executives currently face a monumental task: leading the corporate world out of the worst post-WW2 economic downturn.

Economic crises have been following one after the other, more frequently and more severely than before. Many CFOs now run companies that are suffering from a radical collapse of demand and will need to self-adjust to survive.

The IAFEI World Congress 2010 will address the reasons why this has happened and how to anticipate and, hopefully, avoid other disasters. Global economists and business experts will explore the reality of the up and downs of today's economy.

'Great depression', 'subprime crisis', 'internet bubble'; whatever the media nickname, the latest economic crisis will not be the last. Power will continue to shift among business segments and world economies, and even the most established corporate giants can be affected by fraud and corruption:

- The G8 has become a G20, and the next move maybe a G2 with China.
- The Madoff's of the day tricks of the trade and strings of Ponzi scheme hit individual investors as well as major markets throughout the world.
- The collapse of Lehman Brothers has been sensed as a collateral of the failure of an entire presumably sophisticated financial system.

Our speakers will offer their personal insights on where we came from and where we stand, with qualified assessments of the global economic position, and address other uncertainties on your agenda.

Looking Forward

The IAFEI World Congress 2010 focuses primarily on 'Looking Forward' – looking beyond the crisis and ahead to opportunities for growth. It is up to CFOs to craft a better governance of the corporate world and, to do that, we will have to anticipate and evolve according to what comes next.

Italy is the country that epitomes Art. The art of taking the long view is something in which our guest managers and companies excel.

Our speakers are some of the most senior influencers in the worlds of finance, retail, technology, energy, manufacturing and education, and representatives of some of the most successful global companies and brands. They will share their insights on how to emerge successfully in the changing global economy.

You will be addressed by talented entrepreneurs, managers, economists and consultants, who will help you to anticipate the upcoming shifting trends in planning, production, distribution and consumption. In addition, you will be introduced to new breakthroughs in company management tools, business ethics and governance.

Join us

We invite you join us in Rome to benefit from this collective business expertise, to network with other CFOs, to take advantage of Rome's mild autumn, and to enjoy our inviting social program.

Welcome to Rome

The Location

Rome, the Eternal City, provides the most spectacular backdrop for the 40th IAFEI World Congress. It is the ideal location to discuss 'Looking Forward' - no other place in the world could better illustrate the ability of a population to constantly adapt and evolve throughout history.

According to tradition, Rome was founded by twins Romulus and Remus in 753 BC, and has performed a fundamental role in the world's development for almost 3000 years.

During the Roman Empire, Rome was the all powerful capital of western civilisation. Rome has also been the seat of the head of the Roman Catholic Church since the 4th century. The Eternal City has remained an internationally important political and spiritual point of reference ever since.

Turn any corner to witness layer upon layer of history living harmoniously with modern business. Where else could you literally walk in the footsteps of Julius Caesar in world famous sites like the Coliseum and the Forum; be awestruck by Michelangelo's Sistine Chapel, the Bernini sculptures and some spectacular modern art; delight in the beautiful city squares boasting over 2000 exquisite cooling fountains; stroll in the lovely public gardens and around the villas of famous Renaissance families; and enjoy some of the most delicious food you've ever tasted!

We wish you all a great stay in Rome, to enjoy its many pleasures and to be inspired by The Art of the Forward Look.

The Venue

The Westin Excelsior Hotel is hosting the Summit. The epitome of elegant style, luxury and comfort, the hotel is renowned for outstanding service and has welcomed celebrities, statesmen and artists visiting the Eternal City since 1906.

Voted onto the Condé Nast Traveller Gold List, the sumptuously furnished hotel offers a host of excellent facilities, including a large new health club with indoor pool, superb dining, charming sidewalk cafe tables, a piano bar.

The splendid Art Nouveau building boasts an exceptional location on the Via Veneto, a renowned location for its prestigious and excellent cafés, bars and restaurants.
